

SILo PUBLIC SCHOOL PARENT ENGAGEMENT POLICY

Silo School knows that parents play a critical role in their child's success. When parents work with teachers and take an active role in their student's education the student becomes more successful and more responsible.

The following are ways that Silo School will involve parents:

1. Parents are invited to the annual Title I parent meeting where they can make suggestions for revisions to the Parental Involvement Plan and discuss how to improve instruction. This meeting will be held at the beginning of the school year and will provide parents with information about Title I and other federal programs and their rights as parents.
2. Meet Your Teacher Day: This is a day before school starts that parents can come to school and meet their student's teacher, get their supplies for school, get the Student Handbook and get to know the surroundings of the school.
3. Parent/Teacher Conferences: Two times during the school year we have Parent/Teacher Conferences. We stress that every parent come and conference with the teacher. If for some reason they cannot come on the date and time scheduled the teacher tries to schedule another day and time. If that is not successful then the teacher is to call the parents that did not attend and have a phone conference. This way every parent has a conference with the teacher.
4. Fliers and notes are sent home about coming events and activities. We also have activities and events posted on our website and Facebook page.
5. Teacher's notes and schedules: All of our teachers send information home by having a special folder in the student's book bag that has information for the entire week. Teachers include their phone number, the school's number if they have questions and parents can send any information back to school by inserting into the special folder.
6. Student Handbook: Every year when students enroll parents are given a Silo Student Handbook. Parents sign that they have received this book so we can make sure every parent receives one. This handbook has useful information that parents need to know.
7. Reading to Students: We have parents, older students, and people from the community come to school on scheduled days to read to the students.
8. Lunch: Parents are invited and welcome to come to school and eat lunch with their student. We have many parents who come and eat lunch with their student and talk to the teacher.
9. Red Ribbon March: Every year Parents and students make special signs together about staying drug free. We have a march around the community with students, teachers, parents and any community member.

All of these events are to bring parents and students to school and be involved with their education. The events vary from year to year.
